

The School of Literary Art

CONDUCTED BY FLORENCE MARRYAT

Author of "Loves Conflict," etc, etc, and Daughter of the late Capt. Marryat, R.N., C.B., Author of "Peter Simple," etc, etc.

This School has been instituted for the instruction of both sexes desirous of entering the Literary Profession, in the Arts of Composing and writing Fiction, Journalism, and the construction of Drama.

As there are many persons who possess both power and imagination, without the capability of developing a story, or a play, so as to render it acceptable to the public, it is pre-evident that it requires tuition to fit them for a Literary career, as much as for any other profession.

FLORENCE MARRYAT, being the author of more than seventy successful works of Fiction, and having fulfilled the positions of Editor, Reviewer, and Journalist, is capable of deciding, after a very short time, whether a pupil has any talent for writing, and if so, of turning it to the best account.

For Terms, Rules, etc., apply by letter only to FLORENCE MARRYAT, 26, Abercorn Place, N.W.
